Howard Griffiths of Jersey City, rep-

senting the national board of the National association, submitted to the National league today the proposed amendment, and received the league's answer through President Johnson that the league refused to concur.

Johnson Has a Plan.

President Johnson proposed this com-romise: That the drafting price be promise: That the drafting price be $1,000 for class AA and A; $750 for class B. and $500 for class C and all other classes. The proposed compromise involved an agreement that only two men should be drafted from either class AA, class A or class B or any other classes. Grifflith, who had power to act for the National association, deelined to accept the compromise. Johnson their said the American league would agree to act under his proposed compromise scale of prices for one year, and then, if the experiment was not satisfactory, pay the prices proposed by the amendment. Griffliths, in behalf of the National association flatly declined to accept the proposition.

1904 Rules Readopted.

A joint committee on rules of the two major leagues met today and readopted the 1904 rules. Absolutely no change was made. The foul strike rule was discussed, but the joint committee was unanimous in its opinion that the rule should stand.

The conditions for the world's championship series of games between the respective winners of the National and $1.009 for class AA and A; $750 for class B, and $500 for class C and all other classes. As nothing was heard from New York up to a late hour this morning as to what, action the national board had taken in the case of the Pacific National league, it is probable that the board did not get around to it yesterday owing to the rush of other business. From the above dispatch, it would indicate that the National association is having its hands full fighting Ban Johnson for its very existence, and probably did not take the time necessary to settle the little trouble it has on its hands out in this country. According to the best posted baseball critics in the east, the action taken yesterday by the American league in refusing to grant the demands of the minors is liable to start a baseball war between these two associations. fusing to grant the demands of the minors is liable to start a baseball war between these two associations. However, the fans of the intermounthe outcome, as the Pacific National cuts mighty little figure with the big baseball organizations now lining up for the Amercan league or any of the other big leagues coming out to Utah, Montana, Idaho or Washington and taking the players of this league. There is one consolation in the whole affair, and that is there are others who are having their troubles these days. Meanwhile reports coming from the coast and from more than one quarter are to the effect that the firm of Lucas & McCloskey have at last come the Pacific National as a bad job.

PARCELS POST TREATY SIGNED. Washington, Feb. 17.-A parcels post treaty between this government and Great Britain was today signed by President Roosevelt, Secretary Hay and Postmaster General Wynne. It has already been signed by the British officials and will take effect April 1.

The final conclusion of the British treaty is a source of much gratification to officials here, and a substantial in-crease in the volume of postal business is expected to follow. The movement for a parcels post arrangement between the two countries began many years ago. The sea post service between the ago. The sea post service between the United States and Great Britain is also to be extended. At present two of the steamship lines have set aside on the vessels of their line in which American postal clerks assort and distribute mails for this country on the westbound trips, the expense for this one way service being borne by this government. The same work was not performed on the eastbound trips because the British government until now has declined to enter into the arrangement.

The maximum weight aboved is four counds six ounces. The rate fixed is 12 cents a pound or fraction of a pound in this country, and 2 shillings per parcel in England. All packages sent under this arrangement are limited in value to $56. The treaty follows the general $56. The treaty follows the general provisions of existing parcels post treaties with other governments. A parcels post treaty with France pected to be concluded shortly.
